

Biography

Evelyn Brooks was born in Peru.

She graduated from Business Tourism School at the age of 21 and decided to work in a field relating to her studies.

Evelyn was fortunate to explore the travel industry and travel around the world as part of her job. She has lived in many different countries, (Brazil, Mexico, El Salvador, United States) enjoying the beauty of what each country has to offer.

In 2004, Evelyn discovered her new passion: jewelry making/design. She has studied different courses at the Torpedo Factory, The Gemological Institute of America and Empowered Women International in order to diversify her knowledge in the jewelry industry.

Her father has been a jeweler since age fourteen, and her mother ran a successful fashion and accessories boutique. Although Evelyn is no longer living in Lima, her parents helped her with the materials and resources needed to assemble her jewelry in the United States.

Evelyn continues to pursue her jewelry passion and looks forward to working on new designs incorporating new lines to her existing collection for years to come.

"I am a very passionate young entrepreneur and I look forward to creating more innovative modern designs influenced with my native Peruvian culture."
